FINAL JUDGMENT

On January 6, 2026, the above-styled case was called to trial. Plaintiff Texans for Vaccine Choice (“Plaintiff”) and Defendants Jackie Schlegel (“Schlegel”), Texans for Vaccine Freedom (“Freedom”), and Texans for Vaccine Choice PAC (“PAC”) (collectively, “Defendants”) appeared by attorneys of record and announced ready. Having been previously demanded, a jury consisting of twelve jurors was duly empaneled and the case proceeded to trial.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the Court submitted the disputed questions of fact to the jury. The jury, by vote of 10 – 2, found in favor of Plaintiff on some claims, while Defendants prevailed on others. The jury found the term “Texans for Vaccine Choice” is eligible for protection as a trademark, that Plaintiff currently owns the trademark “Texans for Vaccine Choice”, and that the common law trademark “Texans for Vaccine Choice was infringed by PAC and Schlegel. The jury found Freedom did not infringe the trademark. The jury further found that Schlegel failed to comply with the Agreement and awarded damages in the amount of $5,403.66 to Plaintiff as a result of Schlegel’s breach of the Agreement. The jury found that Schlegel had breached her fiduciary duties to Plaintiff and awarded $0.00 in damages to Plaintiff as a result of Schlegel’s breach of her fiduciary duties to Plaintiff.

The jury further awarded attorneys’ fees to Plaintiff against Schlegel in the amount of $375,313,99 arising from Plaintiff’s prosecution for breach of contract. The jury further awarded contingent appellate attorneys’ fees to Plaintiff against Schlegel in the event of an unsuccessful appeal to the Court of Appeals in the amount of $75,000, contingent appellate attorneys’ fees to Plaintiff against Schlegel for representation at the petition review stage in the Supreme Court of Texas in the amount of $50,000 if not granted, contingent appellate attorneys’ fees to Plaintiff against Schlegel for representation at the merit briefing stage in the Supreme Court of Texas in the amount of $50,000 in the event of a petition for review being granted but the appeal is ultimately unsuccessful, and contingent appellate attorneys’ fees to Plaintiff against Schlegel for representation at the oral argument stage in the Supreme Court of Texas in the amount of $25,000 if the appeal is ultimately not successful. Further, the jury awarded attorneys' fees to Plaintiff in the amount of $186,756.25 against Defendants arising out of Plaintiff's defense against Defendants' Texas Citizens Participation Act ("TCPA") motion to dismiss.

The Jury Charge and verdict of the jury was accepted by the Court. The Court has considered the jury's verdict, the evidence presented at trial, proposed judgments submitted by the parties, and the Court's previous orders and rulings. Accordingly, the Court has determined that a Final Judgment is proper on the terms below.
